NATIONAL DEFENSE READING LIST

Reading List of Selected Titles of Government Publications, Speeches, Pamphlets, Visual Material, and Motion Pictures
on the Subject of Agriculture and Defense.

---oOo---

FOREWORD:

This reading list has been compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture in response to requests from farm people for sources of information on national defense. The inquiries have concerned both the part of agriculture, and the National Defense Program as a whole.

Therefore, the list is divided into two parts. Part One contains the titles of publications, speeches, radio talks, and moving pictures issued by the Department of Agriculture since June 1940 on the subject of Agriculture and Defense. As the role of farmers in defense includes the strengthening of existing programs for achieving a balanced agriculture, the list includes a few titles of outstanding publications issued before the National Defense Program began.

Part Two contains titles of a few of the timely publications and motion pictures available on request to other governmental agencies. Sources of information are suggested on the armed forces, the rearmament program, national resources for defense, vocational training for defense industries, Latin American relations, public health, employment services, housing, and the Government as a whole.

The Government departments or agencies listed in Part Two will be glad to supply, on request, a complete list of their available publications or motion pictures. To save time, such requests should be addressed directly to the department or agency concerned, and not to the Department of Agriculture.

PART I -- Material Available for Public Distribution from the United States Department of Agriculture.
